Organizing Expert for IKEA- Atlanta

Paris Love, CEO of the Paris Love Productivity Institute, is one of the country's foremost organizational and productivity coaches. A best-selling author on Amazon.com, highly sought-after speaker, and former U.S. Army Sergeant, Love has a tremendous talent for bringing order to chaos, providing her clients with streamlined, efficient, manageable approaches to running their lives and businesses. After many years of working with a wide variety of clients in a host of settings, she's homed in on her specialty: helping overextended professionals overcome the barriers that keep them disorganized, dissatisfied, and discontent in their life, business, or career.

Paris is a bestselling author with ten published books. She received Amazon's top 100 Best Sellers in two categories and the TAZ award for her novel, Growing Pains. She has been featured on Focus Atlanta, CW Atlanta, My Atlanta TV and OnlineOrganizing.com. She has been the organizing expert for IKEA-Atlanta and also featured on the TV show, Hoarders, where she helps a family in need of organizational help.

She holds Masters Degrees in Human Resources and Business Administration from Keller Graduate School of Management and undergraduate degrees in Psychology from DePaul University and Fashion Design from Norfolk State University. She is currently working on her doctoral degree in Advanced Studies of Human Behavior.
